

What Is Cops for Kids?

Great question! Cops for Kids is a nonprofit organization dedicated to building strong connections between law enforcement and the community, particularly for children in need. In collaboration with the Albuquerque Police Department, the program focuses on providing holiday joy to underprivileged children through a special Christmas event.

How does it work?

Each year, Cops for Kids selects 80-100 children to participate, often representing their only Christmas experience. Selections are made based on referrals from Albuquerque Public Schools, law enforcement, and social services, considering factors such as household income and available funding.

How can I help?

Donation opportunities are available for just $100 per child or less, helping to create memorable holiday experiences that these children will cherish. Whatever you can donate helps! All donations are tax-deductible and can be made easily through the organization's website or by mail.
